SEN. O'NEILLS SON, 45, DIES IN AUSTRALIA

Upon returning to her home in Downers Grove after attending the "open house" at the News-Bulletin plant in Mokena last Saturday, Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, state senator, received a cablegram notifying her of the death of her son, William J. Jr., in Sydney, Australia. Mr. O'Neill, who was 45, died of a heart attack at the home of his cousin, William Hancock, in Sydney. Two years ago he suffered a heart ailment and was hospitalized for a long period, but it was thought he had completely recovered. His father, William J. O'Neill, who came to this country from Australia, died on July 4, 1925.

Mr. O'Neill, an electrical engineer consultant, had been in Australia for the past four months on a business trip, and while there visited Australian relatives whom he had never met before.

Death came during his sleep, according to information given Senator O'Neill, who is the state senator from the 41st senatorial district, including Will county.

Mr. O'Neill had lived in Downers Grove the greater part of his life, his family having moved there in 1910. He was a veteran of World War II, having served more than four years with the army. He saw service in the South Pacific and Alaska, and was a member of the American Legion.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a brother Elmer, of Glen Ellyn.

The body is being flown to Downers Grove, and will be taken to the Adams and Winterfield funeral home there.

Mrs. K. Heisner Injured Sunday In Auto Accident

Mrs. Katharine Heisner, Frankfort correspondent for this news paper, figured in an automobile accident Sunday. She was accompanying her son in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, on a motor trip to visit friends in Grayslake, near the northern boundary of the state. They had practically come to a stop at a stop sign at the intersection of Routes 83 and 22, about five miles west of Libertyville, when a car behind them coming at a good rate of speed, crashed into them. Mrs. Heisner and her grandchildren were in the back seat when the crash occurred.

The crash knocked the door open, and very fortunately, no one was thrown out.

Mrs. Heisner received a severe jolt to her back and neck, but the children were not injured. Mrs. Heisner was taken to the hospital at Libertyville, where x-rays were taken, but up to press time there has been no report of their findings. The following day, Monday, Mrs. Heisner was brought home from the Libertyville hospital.

The driver of the other car was Edward Huston, of Chicago, and with him were his wife and son. He evidently did not see the stop sign at this intersection, and said he did not know the Millers were going to stop.

The chassis of the Miller car was badly damaged, and there was considerable damage to the seats. They were, however, able to drive their car, a 1950 Buick, home. The damage is estimated at $300. The other car was also badly damaged. None of the occupants of the other car sustained serious injury.

After driving Mrs. Heisner to the Libertyville hospital, the Miller's continued for a few more miles to Grayslake where they visited for a short time with their friends.

Donna Miller, a grade student in the Frankfort school, who was in the back seat with her grandmother, has been pinched hitting for Mrs. Heisner this week in gathering and reporting Frankfort news items, and has done exceptionally well.

FIRE HALTS GOLDEN STATE IN NEW LENOX

At about 2:15 Sunday afternoon, as the Golden State Limited was passing through New Lenox on its way to the Coast, the first diesel of the crack train caught fire. The engineer slowed down, and blew the special signal whistle to summon a flagman.

John E. Jones, local agent for the Rock Island at New Lenox, who lives two blocks from the railroad station, heard the signal and rushed down to the depot to see what was wrong. By this time the train had come to a stop. Flames were shooting out of the pilot diesel, and a crowd had already gathered. Mr. Jones called the New Lenox fire department. Water was used at first, but proved ineffective. Chemicals were then put to use and the blaze was routed.

The second diesel then took over and pulled the train to Joliet, where the pilot diesel was cut out. The Golden State then proceeded to the Sylvius shops where another diesel was in readiness for the western trip.

Chrysler's heavy duty kit, introduced last summer for special use by law enforcement agencies and other groups requiring cars with maximum performance plus safety, has proven so successful that Chrysler is increasing production of this equipment, reports E. M. Braden, general sales manager Chrysler division, Chrysler corporation.

"The Heavy duty kit was first released last summer on 1953 Chrysler New Yorker club coup and due to the Fire-Power V-8 engine's high power potential required comparatively few changes in installation," Braden said. In addition, for the performance delivered, the kit was relatively inexpensive and as law enforcement groups put it into service the demand increases rapidly.

The heavy duty kit consists of dual carburetors and manifold, a dual exhaust system and mechanical valve lifters and coupled with fully automatic Power Flite transmission, produces speeds sufficient to permit law enforcement officers an adequate margin for criminal pursuit. Chrysler's wide range of rear axle ratios, from 3.07 to 4.89, provides maximum performance for all terrain.

The heavy duty kit have Chrysler's powerful disc brakes which are the safest, most powerful brakes offered on any American passenger car, according to Braden. He stated these brakes can repeatedly stop a two-ton New Yorker sedan in two-thirds the distance usually required because they cool rapidly and eliminate brake fade. This kit, with disc brakes, has proven that exceptionally high speed can be safe when addition of braking power is provided Braden stated.

'Open House' Draws Over 400 at Semmler Newspapers

This newspaper's "open house" which was held last Saturday, Oct. 10, was a most enjoyable and successful affair. October contributed its part with the presentation of one of those rare fall days which carried the feel of summer. People went through the newspaper plant on Front street in Mokena all day long, from shortly after 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. About those present was Mrs. Libby Haley of Marley, whose 96 years did not prevent her from making the trip, and enjoying every minute of the tour of the plant. Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, veteran Republican state senator from Illinois, was also among "those present."

There were many beautiful floral pieces which had been sent by friends and business houses, adding more than a flash of color to the drab surroundings which are the inevitable concomitants of a newspaper plant. Visitors were greeted at the door by the publisher, Mrs. Margaret Semmler, who wore a gown typical of the period when the first boards were hammered into place in the old building on Front street by Martin Heim, 104 years ago. Mr. Heim was the grandfather of William Semmler, founder of the Semmler Newspapers.

Guests were presented with a miniature souvenir issue of the News-Bulletin, which called attention to National Newspaper Week, which had just terminated. The rest of the special "open house" issue was purely historical, covering the century span from the days of Grandfather Heim to that red letter day, June 18, 1953, when the first issues of the News-Bulletin, the Tinley Park Times and the Orland Park Herald rolled off the duplex press in the new concrete block addition to the old plant—in celebration of which this "open house" was held.

Coffee, pop and doughnuts were served to visitors, each of whom received a plastic pencil holder gift with compartment for three pencils to be affixed on right to walls or by the telephone, or wherever a hard to find pencil may come in handy. Lollypops were given the children.

Everyone seemed to be greatly interested in the operation of the new press, which is rolled and folds as it prints. The press was scheduled to run at periodic intervals, and many people who had come in at off hours waited to see its operation. The press was, however, run much more frequently than scheduled in order to give everyone an opportunity to see it. (Continued to back page)

WM. F. FITZER OF NEW LENOX DIES IN SLEEP

NB Wm. Fitzer 1-4 Lo- William F. Fitzer, 62, a native of New Lenox township, died suddenly in his home early Monday. He passed away in his sleep and his wife discovered his body shortly thereafter.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzer, he was born in New Lenox, on a farm, Oct. December 20, 1913, he was united in marriage with Miss Anna Gillman of New Lenox. They engaged in farming, and later on he established a milk route in New Lenox, which he conducted for many years.

In December, 1946, he retired from farming and the milk business and purchased a home on Elm street, New Lenox, into which they moved. For awhile he worked for the Pfeiffer Construction Co. until 1950, when he joined the staff at Barrett's Hardware company in Joliet, where he has worked since.

Surviving are his widow Anna, two sons, Ronald, of New Lenox and Elton, of Joliet; and a daughter, Mrs. Robert McCleary of New Lenox; his mother, Mrs. Caroline Fitzer, of New Lenox; three brothers, Edward, of Joliet, Harry, of New Lenox, and Albert, of Plainfield, and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Warning, of Mokena and Mrs. Anna Gullickson, of New Lenox; and five grandchildren.

MOKENA CHEST FUND DRIVE OCT. 15 TO 26

The Community Chest is the efficient way to provide for county social and welfare agencies since it combines seventeen campaigns in one and provides funds for a well rounded program for county welfare.

The agencies sharing in the fund are intended to augment the tax supported agencies and not to duplicate service or aid. One of the main aims of the fund agencies is to make unnecessary the spending of tax monies by rendering service and counsel that will save a home, keep youngsters out of trouble, restore health where possible and supply a spiritual and moral guidance. The effective work of these agencies saves a considerable expenditure by keeping children out of reform schools, and parents supporting their families where otherwise they would become state charges.

"One of the slogans this year is "Youth Activities or Youth Gangs." This was emphasized by Paul Ouman, county probation officer, in a talk at the County Workers "kick-off" when he pointed out that twenty years ago when agency service was not available, there was an average of 120 officially reported delinquent children in Will County per year, but now that has dropped to twenty cases per year. Why spend $3,000.00 per year to keep a boy at St. Charles Reformatory when a youth guidance agency can keep him out of trouble at a cost of less than $5.00 per year.

Volunteer workers are needed to help in the Mokena Fund drive and all interested people are asked to contact Ray Hoolehan, Mokena 9444.

Village Players to Rehearse New Play "Ramshackle Inn"

The entire cast of the Village Players, Mokena, practiced Tuesday night, and will practice again Friday night, their new play, "Ramshackle Inn," with Mrs. George Bills as director. They will practice again next Monday and Tuesday, and next Wednesday they will have a dress rehearsal. The play will be presented Oct. 23 and 24.

Mrs. Russell Anderson, who is in charge of the properties states she has everything needed for the play except an old fashioned long and narrow picture of still life. If anyone has anything like this they are asked to please call her at Mokena 2940.

The Semmler Newspapers today announce the opening of a "Community Circulation Campaign", designed to further extend the large and growing readership of The News-Bulletin, The Tinley Park Times and The Orland Park Herald.

Opening date for the campaign which will cover the towns and rural areas of this vast territory has been set for Thursday, Oct. 22.

Cash prizes and commissions totaling around $3,000 will be paid at the conclusion of the six weeks campaign to contestants enrolling as subscription representatives for the above named Semmler newspapers.

Arrangements have been made with the Marion Circulation company of Marion, Iowa, to direct the campaign. In personal charge of the campaign will be Marvin Smith of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who will be here during the period set aside for the circulation drive. He will have charge of all details of the campaign and will assist candidates in every way possible, and will be available each evening at the News-Bulletin office in Mokena until 9 o'clock for daily reports of each contestant.

The Marion Circulation company comes highly recommended and has conducted recent subscription campaigns in other personally known newspapers in Illinois, as well as many such campaigns in many other cities, towns and states.

The following prizes will be awarded to the top ranking campaign workers:

First Grand Prize, $500 Mainline six, Tudor Ford sedan with heater.

Second Grand Prize, $500 Cash.

Third Grand Prize, $200 Cash.

Fourth Grand Prize, $100 Cash.

Fifth Grand Prize, $50 Cash.

In addition, contestants who do not win one of the top prizes will be paid 20 percent commission on all subscriptions turned in during the campaign.

Since contestants may not win both a grand prize and commissions, the total cash payments to campaign contestants will reach about $3,000.

Men and women from every section of the large territory of the three papers are invited to enter the $3,000 circulation contest. Mr. Smith states that contestants who get an early start not only find more potential subscribers—but also are enabled to make best use of the early-subscription vote bonuses.

The bonuses, complete contest rules, and an entry blank will be found in the campaign announcement on two inside pages.

The objectives of this huge campaign are two-fold.

First, it is intended to increase the subscription list of each of the three papers. The publisher wishes to extend news paper coverage more thoroughly to the outlying areas of this trade territory, and increase the blanket coverage of each immediate community.

Second, the campaign affords readers an unusual opportunity to profit in a big way through their spare time activities during the next few weeks.

To gain these objectives quickly and advantageously, these prizes are available for distribution among the campaign workers. Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success. The plan adopted is straight forward and simple.

There is no entry fee. Simply fill out the entry blank which will be found in this issue, sign it and return it to the office at Mokena.

This is the fourth such campaign that the Semmler Newspapers have conducted. Those living in this area during these past years will recall them. The last such campaign was in 1936. A car was given away in each such contest.

Who will win it this time?

Orland High School Participates In Statewide Test

Orland Park Consolidated High school is among 500 Illinois schools which will participate this fall in the University of Illinois statewide testing program conducted by the Unit on Evaluation in the University's Bureau of Educational Research as a service to Illinois schools.

Both school and pupils are tested under this program as results not only predict the future success of an individual student but also show the extent to which the school has been successful in teaching him. Tests are administered to junior and senior high school students at the school and returned to the University for scoring. The schools paying a small charge per pupil to cover costs of the program.

Testing will be completed in all schools by mid November and scores will be available before the Christmas holidays, for use in student guidance, evaluation of the school program, and for purposes of record.

Approximately 44,000 high school students were tested and scored last year in this program under the direction of Prof. J. Thomas Hastings, head of the unit on evaluation. The test battery includes the California Short-Form Test of Mental Maturity measuring the general level of academic aptitude, the Illinois Test of Reading Comprehension in Social Science and Physical Science, and the Illinois Test of Writing Skills. The two latter tests were devised expressly for this statewide testing program.

Fall Feeding Seen Vital For Trees Hurt by Drought

Home grounds trees are going to need more help this fall than they have in many years. The searing heat late this summer has badly depleted the growing vigor of woody landscape friends. This has been reflected in premature leaf fall and sagging vitality—partly because hundreds of municipalities were forced to curtail sprinkling.

To rebuild declining arboreal prompt tree feeding of arboreal pets is important. L. F. Irvine, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., says city and suburban trees, even though denuded, will absorb nutrients for weeks to come.

That's because roots remain active long after leaves seem dormant. They'll gulp up vitamins provided sufficient moisture dissolves the fertilizer. If fall rains are infrequent, keep the garden hose handy for use.

Fortunately woodland trees do not suffer as much from drought as their city cousins. They are protected by natural moisture-retaining mulches and have the benefit of organic foods, such as decaying leaves, denied home grounds trees sitting on manicured lawns.

The city tree should be served its blue-plate special in the form of a tree food high in nitrogen content. This fertilizer is applied by the time-honored perforation method, meaning the punching of holes in the soil over the entire root area. Holes may range in depth from 12 to 18 inches, depending upon locale. Peat moss and other humus materials should be used to fill the deep holes after the special tree food dosage has been applied. Roots generally extend at least as far as the branches spread.

Surface Drainage May Help Field Water Spots

Fall is a good time of year to fix those spots in your fields where water stands after a rain. E. D. Walker, extension soil conservationist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that many times the trouble is a tight subsoil that tiling will not help.

If you have a tight subsoil, surface drainage may be the answer, Walker says. A ditch may also be a much cheaper way to do the job than tiling. You'll probably need some help in surveying your fields for surface drainage possibilities to be sure that you get the ditches in the right place. Your local soil conservationist can help you with that job.

There's a possibility that you can do two jobs at the same time with your drainage if you can use the dirt that you dig out of the ditch to fill the low spots.

BABSON SAYS-

Copyright—1953—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.
I believe in life insurance at all times, the same as I believe in fire insurance at all times. As insurance taken out should depend partly on the cost of replacement, so the amount of life insurance which you take out should depend partly upon the trend in the value of the dollar.

Ordinarily, when experts agree that the dollar will decline in value for the next 20 years, you would not buy so much as 20 years ago. Life insurance as they agreed it would increase in value during the next 20 years. In the first case, you are paying out good money as premiums, while your wife may get poor dollars when you die—although she then would be much better off than if she got no dollars!

In the second case, you are paying out poor dollars as premiums with the hope your wife will get good dollars when you die. To illustrate how much of a factor this change is, the value of our dollar was 100 cents in 1939; it declined to 52 cents in 1952 and then started climbing back again. Considering that the people of the United States hold life insurance policies totalling over $275 billions, this decline in the value of our dollar has cost Americans many billions of dollars.

There are various reasons why the dollar declined in value during the past twenty years. The primary one was that owing to war and preparation for war we did not allow our national budget but issued billions of paper money to make up the deficit. Any banker will accept your note at par if you have all your bills paid, a good job, and money in the bank. If, however, you can't pay our bills and are constantly giving out more notes, then these notes are accepted only at a discount, and the more notes you issue, the bigger the discount you must give in order to have them accepted.

Another reason for a declining dollar is when anyone accepts wages, interest, or profits for more than he deserves. Wage-workers are entitled to wages in proportion to their increased production, less fair rental for the new machinery. When, however, labor unions force employers to give them more wages without giving more production in return, this results in an unbalanced national budget. In the long run, none of us can get "something for nothing." What labor gets in unproductive wages, it loses through higher prices, higher rents, and a declining dollar value.

In view of the fairer attitude which the Eisenhower Administration is taking to balance the spending, borrowing and production budgets, the value of the dollar should now go up again. This means many things: 1, the money which you now have in life insurance, bank deposits, and elsewhere will be growing in value. 2, Your real wages will be increasing every month even though you get the same number of dollars in your pay envelope. This means that unless we can prove we are producing more goods or rendering better service, we should not now ask for higher wages.

This is the time to insure the present high wages which your husband is now bringing home. With sufficient life insurance bought now, the increased buying power of this insurance when paid will partly offset the loss in the family income in case of his death.

Hence, this is the time to buy life insurance. In addition to getting full insurance the day you pay your first premium, you are paying your premium with 52-cent dollars while your wife and family may be paid in 100-cent dollars when you die. For parents this means that now also is the time for spending money on an education for your children. For businessmen it means now is the time to spend money on institutional advertising and on other "long term" investments.

Report of Harvey Federal Savings And Loan Assoc.

A continued pace of record activity was disclosed by the quarterly financial statement published by Harvey Federal Savings and Loan Association this week.

Commenting on the statement Foss P. Miller, Chairman of the Board of Directors said "All time records for the Association's 41 years of existence were broken in almost every phase of its activities. Total assets reached an all-time high of $9,804,548.13, compared with the figures at the start of the year of $9,186,414.57, or a net increase of $618,133.56. Asset items showing a like increase were first mortgage home loans which totaled $8,428,088.34 at the end of the quarter, compared with $7,917,845.26 at the start of 1953, or a net increase of $510,243.08 for the nine month period. New loans placed on the books totaled $1,890,533.00 while total repayments of principal amounted to $1,380,289.92, the difference accounting for the net increase. New lending was at a peak, exceeded only by the year 1951. Cash and U. S. government bonds at the end of the quarter were $1,106,542.23, an increase of $82,686.65."

Mr. Miller further said "Total savings held by the Association reached $8,502,900.28 compared with $7,418,810.54 at the start of the year, or a net increase of savings of $1,084,089.74. This increase is a new all-time record and more than double that of the comparable period of 1952 when the growth in savings was $534,681.00."

"Total safety reserves increased $62,516.12 during the nine month period, bringing the outstanding aggregate amount of such reserves to $613,033.20. Total net income, after providing for such reserves, was used to provide dividends on savings accounts totaling $142,443.00, compared with $97,042.44 a year ago."

According to Mr. Miller this large increased inflow of savings was accounted for partly by the increase in the dividend rate to 2 1/2 percent which took effect last year.

The number of saving customers showed a similar increase being a total of 11,415 persons firms and corporations at the quarter's end holding a total of 6,877 savings accounts, a net gain in such accounts of 735 in the nine month's period.

Chairman Miller said the record of the Association reflected continued full employment and a more general realization of the desirability of the old-fashioned virtues of thrift and home ownership.

"Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's new statistical yearbook, shows that 61 percent of the drivers involved in the 33,000 fatal motor vehicle accidents last year lived within 25 miles of where the accident occurred, 21 per cent lived elsewhere in the state, and 18 per cent out of the state.

It's Springtime Again in Marley

Mother Nature seems to be a bit confused lately. An apple tree is in full bloom in Glenn Shifler's orchard. The Lorser Sasser's are picking red raspberries and the dandelions are blooming again. The scene of all these strange happenings is in the vicinity of Marley. Perhaps it's just an aftermath of the hottest summer in history.

Who are the Girl Scouts?

They are the seven year old Brownie who is your next door neighbor. The bright eyed 12 year old who lives down the street, or perhaps your own teenage youngster who takes such pride in her trim green uniform. Girl Scouts are America's daughters from seven to seventeen, working and playing together, making new friends and learning to be useful and of service to others.

In weekly troop meetings over 5,000 Girl Scouts in South Cook county living democracy and practicing citizenship. They are preparing themselves to be the leaders of tomorrow. But, they need the help of the leaders of today. Leaders are needed for existing troops and for new troops that cannot be started unless more adult volunteers are secured. Help is needed in every town in the Council's jurisdiction.

The "waiting list" Brownies and Girl Scouts are waiting for you to volunteer just a little of your spare time so that they can become Girl Scouts. Do you want to make friends and influence people? Volunteer your spare time to the Girl Scouts. As a Girl Scout volunteer, you will have 5,000 friends, the Girl Scouts of South Cook county. Your influence will be the help you give to our Citizens of Tomorrow—call today, Harvey 1068.

Lady Baden-Powell, wife of the late Lord Baden-Powell, founder of all scouting, will be the guest speaker at the new Blue Island Community High school October 25 at 8:00 pm. Her topic, Today's Boys and Girls, Tomorrow's Leaders, is of interest to all adults interested in and concerned about youth of today.

Lady Baden-Powell is the Chief Guide of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, comprising 32 countries. There are 21 other countries where Girl Guiding is developing. She comes with a background of knowledge and experience with Youth all over the World. Tickets are free and any interested adult may secure them by calling the Girl Scout office, Harvey 1068.

Seventy percent of all Girl Scout Councils participate in Community Chest Red Feather or United Fund drives. The Girl Scouts of South Cook county participate in all Community Chests in the Council's jurisdiction. Only the contributions made to your local campaign will help your Girl Scouts.

In the communities not having a Community Chest, the Council is conducting Girl Scout Finance drive. Support of the Girl Scout Program is a good investment in the future. The Girl Scouts of South Cook county will be represented by 11 delegates and one alternate when the 32nd national convention opens October 18 in Cincinnati, Ohio. More than 8,000 Girl Scout leaders, council members and friends of Scouting are expected to attend.

Under The Cross Of Malta

At our regular post meeting October 8 a new recruit was elected to membership. The first three articles of the corporations new by-laws were approved and placed on file. It is important that all members try and attend future post meetings and help formulate and put into effect these by-laws.

Final details were worked out for our annual Hallowe'en party for all the school children in Mokena. The children will parade from the Mokena school to our new home where they will be treated to a wieners roast with all the trimmings that go with an event of this kind. "Remember Kids". You will receive instruction from your teacher, the Amvets will round you up, the date Friday evening, October 30th.

Plans for the annual Hallowe'en masquerade dance were also completed at the meeting, which will be Saturday evening October 31. This event has proved to be very popular in past years and if you want fun you must come.

OPEN HOUSE—

operation, and if a group was standing around it, our obliging pressmen got the wheels in motion. Four pages of this week's issue were printed during these demonstrations. The Little Giant automatic press, on which the souvenir newspapers were printed, was put into operation at the touch of a button many times during the hours for the benefit of interested visitors, many of whom had never seen a printing press in operation. Several callers remarked that they had no idea there was so much work in getting out a newspaper, nor did they have the remotest idea that it was so fascinating and interesting to watch the presses run. They also had no idea that right in their own village there was such an interesting plant. Some of the visitors said they had made long trips to go through plants, overlooking the opportunity for making an equally interesting trip right in their own community. A few expressed the thought that it would be fine if more businesses in this area would throw open their doors and extend an invitation to people to drop in and see how they operate.

One visitor remarked to Mrs. Semmler: "You did not say anything about the little boy in your souvenir edition." This, of course, was an unpardonable oversight, for which amends are here duly made. Little did Martin Heim dream, when he was building his home facing those prairie acres which were to become the Rock Island's right of way, that, 104 years later, his great-great-grandson, Dale Westlund, would be calmly sitting at the editor's desk in that self same building, passing out oilpops to the children who called at this "open house" celebration. Dale is the six and a half year old son of Ada Semmler Westlund and her husband Ramon, and represents the fifth generation.

More than 400 people made the tour of the Semmler newspaper plant during the course of the day and evening.

FISHING-ONTARIO STYLE!

If fishermen pulled whoppers out of the water every time they wet a line the sport would surely die from lack of incentive. A whopper like this 37 pound Maskinonge so lovingly cradled in the arms of Herb Picton, Ontario, where the lake and the St. Lawrence meet, it brought Herb's total take for the year to 1,000 pounds—all of it from these same waters. Fishing is good this year around Picton, rated as one of the best fishing spots in Ontario. Vital statistics on the center of attraction reveal that it measures 51½" in length and 21" in girth and was lured to its doom on a double buffalo with a buck's tail. The backdrop held by Nixon Welsh, is the Prince Edward County Hall of Fame plaque. Monthly and annual prizes are awarded for the best lunge, pickerel, pike, small and largemouth bass.

Statue of 'Faith' carved by sculptor John Szaton, of Tinley Park which was unveiled in Cedar Park cemetery recently. The statue is seven feet high and four feet wide, and is done in bronze.—Paul Leland photo.

atory remarks were made by Raymond L. Groves, president of the National Cemetery Assn. The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Wayne A. Child, pastor of the Calvary Gospel church at Lansing.

Inspirational songs were sung by Dr. Homer Rodeheaver.

'Senator Douglas' remarks dealt primarily with what the statue represented, 'Faith', and he explained his interpretation of this splendid work of art.

The statue, which is seven feet high and four feet wide, is done in bronze. It depicts a mother, guiding her son and daughter into the future. The mother is the expression of supreme confidence. She appears to be walking into the future unafraid, knowing that faith in God will sustain her along the way and at all times be her source of strength. A picture of this beautiful statue appears on an inside page.

Mr. Szaton was commissioned by the cemetery to make a statue on the subject of "Faith", and this he did about a year ago in his Tinley Park studio.

He first made a frame of wood and covered this with sculptor's clay, and after he had done this he made a plaster mold. When this was set, the plaster mold was removed and shellac and grease applied inside. Then the plaster was poured. When this plaster was set it was removed from the mold, and the necessary touching up done. The statue was then crated and shipped to Italy for a bronze casting. Upon arrival in Cedar Park cemetery this summer, the bronze statue was set on a granite pedestal three feet high, awaiting the unveiling ceremony in September.

Prior to this, Mr. Szaton was commissioned to make a statue depicting Charity or Love, for the same cemetery. This he entitled, "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep." It was a group study with an overall height of 11 feet. Mr. Szaton also made a bronze statue seven feet high, depicting an Indian shooting at the stars, which stands in the court yard at Lane Tech high school in Chicago.

Mr. Szaton moved to Tinley Park with his family in 1948. He was born in Springfield, Mass., and came to Chicago in 1928, at which time he worked with Lorado Taft.

His first met Mr. Taft when Taft was giving a lecture in the East. At that time Mr. Szaton decided to come to Chicago and study under the great sculptor. While in Chicago working during the day at the Taft studio, he attended evening classes at the Art Institute. He is now making embossing and dies at the A. A. A. Embossing Co. in Chicago.

His first commissioned carving job was in 1937, at a place where Lincoln is supposed to have crossed from Vincennes, Ind., to Illinois. His carving, done in Indiana limestone, marks this crossing. It is 10 feet high and 25 feet long. This Lincoln memorial is the sculpture of Miss Nellie V. Walker, an aunt of his wife, who is a well known woman sculptor.

Mr. Szaton won second honormation is obtainable from Government reports of various kinds. Second, by actual business conditions, indicated weekly by hundreds of compilations covering 85% of all industries, divided by the stock averages.

A knowledge of the above two factors should determine the desires of investors based on present conditions, but without references to the future. But the future should also be studied and considered. Hence, the importance of the third factor—namely, Confidence in the Future. This is a more difficult factor to measure; but we are constantly discovering more ways of doing so. When one considers that fully 95% of investors, consciously or unconsciously, fail to act upon the above rules (since only 5% have correct data to guide them) one can appreciate the great opportunities awaiting those few investors who do have and do use such data.

The unfortunate thing today is that, due either to inexperience or to lack of the necessary data outlined above, investors are being fed with both bullish and bearish "outlooks." Every day contrary opinions are published in the same newspapers, or magazines, or by competing investment services. This is very unfortunate. It is like releasing each day two completely opposite weather forecasts!

Businessmen and investors will not always stand for this nonsense. I fortell that some day the FRB or the SEC will interest the IBM in making a million dollar machine which will daily compute intelligent business and investment forecasts. Like weather forecasts, such business and investment forecasts will not always be correct; but they will be honest and not contradictory.

CONTROLLING PLANT DISEASES
by Science Features

Plant diseases are a several-million-dollar-a-year headache to American farmers—and, indirectly, to consumers as well. Much progress has been made in fighting these blights, but several plant plagues still defy the best efforts of science to combat them.

The possibility of treating plant infections with antibiotics, the same drugs used to cure human ills, has long been an object of scientific speculation. At a recent meeting of horticulturists at the University of Wisconsin, this dream became a practical reality.

Dr. Robert M. Goodman, of the University of Missouri, reported that Fireblight, a previously incurable disease which has killed millions of apple, pear, and quince trees in the past 100 years, can be controlled with a water spray containing two antibiotics. The spray was applied during bloom and for three weeks after bloom.

In his talk before the Wisconsin meeting, the scientist said that Fireblight was completely controlled with the combination spray, called Agrimycin, in both greenhouse and field trials. Only tiny amounts of the antibiotics were used.

Similar success was reported by U. S. Department of Agriculture researchers in controlling halo blight of beans, a perennial plague infesting thousands of acres, with a water spray containing streptomycin. Other experimental work has shown the antibiotics to be effective against many other such diseases—but large-scale field trials remain to be completed.

Drunken Driving Cases May Be Heard In County Court Now

(CNS) County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki announced Wednesday that he is prepared to start hearing drunken driving cases in County Court if suburban police will place state charges against persons arrested for driving while intoxicated. Judge Jarecki said he had talked with State Attorney John Gutknecht several weeks ago about bringing the drunken driving cases into County court and he had told Gutknecht that the court would be available for such cases.

The judge pointed out that justices of the peace are not permitted to send drunken drivers to jail except when they fail to pay fines while County and Municipal court judges are empowered to both jail and fine drunk drivers.

The County court does not have jurisdiction unless state charges are placed against the drivers by suburban police, the judge said. In the majority of cases, suburban police charge the person with violating local rather than state laws, the judge said.

Under state law, a first offender may be fined from $100 to $1,000. Persons who are arrested more than once for drunk driving may be fined up to $1,000 and may be sent to jail for 90 days and their driver's licenses are automatically revoked.

It must be pointed out, however, that monies collected by justices of the peace if villages are placed in the village treasuries with the JP taking a small cut of the fines in many cases. Money collected in the County and Municipal courts for persons arrested in the suburbs is not returned to the suburb in which the arrest was made.

go Sun-Times of September 25 as a "reputed gambler and racing wire services operator." Harrison was subsequently discharged after a trial by the Chicago Civil Service Commission.

On an appeal by Harrison, the Illinois Supreme Court held in a 4-3 decision that Harrison was not collecting payment for services rendered as a policeman when he accepted $30,000 for services as a bodyguard during off-duty hours from a reputed gambler, that his discharge was therefore invalid, that he is entitled to reinstatement as a police captain under the civil service law—and he stands to collect over $17,000 in back pay as a result.

Despite the Supreme Court decision, the respect of the people for the Chicago Police Department has been further lowered; respect for the law has been further weakened; more people are convinced that government is crooked and rotten; and more people are convinced that it is futile to try and do anything about it. This is a crime against the people.

Unfortunately, this Harrison Case is not an isolated instance. The present civil service laws grew out of a revulsion against the spoils system in government. Under the spoils system, public employees had no protection. Present civil service laws have gone to the other extreme in protecting government employees, so that the public can't even get rid of the undesirables.

This presents a tremendous challenge and opportunity to the legislative commission created by the 1953 Illinois General Assembly to study the whole problem of State government personnel administration, including civil service. The Commission is composed of the top legislative leaders: Senate President Pro Tem and Majority Leader Walker Butler, Assistant Senate Majority Leader George Drach, Senate Minority Leader William Lynch, House Speaker Warren

L. Wood, House Majority Leader Franklin U. Stransky, and House Minority Leader Paul Powell.

It is hoped that this Commission will approach its studies with a completely open mind, and with the objective of finding some middle ground that will provide protection to public employees against the spoils system and at the same time protect the public against being saddled with incompetents and worse for the rest of their lives.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Once again, a word of caution about farm equipment traveling on the highways. It is corn picking time throughout a good portion of Illinois, and farmers are moving mechanical corn pickers from farm to farm.

Corn pickers are large pieces of equipment and are decidedly not built for speed—especially the speed that most passenger cars attain on the highways. As soon as you see one moving along the shoulder of the road, cut your speed abruptly, because you will overtake it in an extremely short length of time, and it may be necessary to come to a complete stop before passing it.

Be sure you can stop, if you should have to. Many serious highway crashes have resulted when the driver of a passenger car has failed to slacken his speed sufficiently and then, in a last second emergency, has crashed into a farm vehicle from the rear.

Be particularly careful on the less heavily traveled highways. Farmers avoid the principal highways as much as possible, but they have to use the others to get their equipment from one farm to another.

Most-liked low-priced car

... among people who want more for their money when they buy ... and more money when they sell!

There's a big reason why more folks are buying more Fords than ever before. No other low-priced car offers so many of the things people want and need for today's driving. In fact, to get such "Worth More" Ford features as a V-8 engine, completely automatic transmission and fine-car power steering in any other car, you'd have to step well up from the low-price field.

Of course, Ford owners will discover that Ford's worth more when they sell it, too. Surveys of used car prices show year-old Fords returning a higher proportion of their original cost than any other car.

because it's most like high-priced cars

... more and more people are considering Ford as the one fine car in the low-price field!

It's hard to believe that a car which is built like the finest still sells in the low-price field. Yet a Ford with its huiltight Crestmark body, its Full-Circle Visibility (most in its field), its new fine car ride and roomy luggage locker (roomiest in its field) delivers at a figure that keeps it right down in its price class.

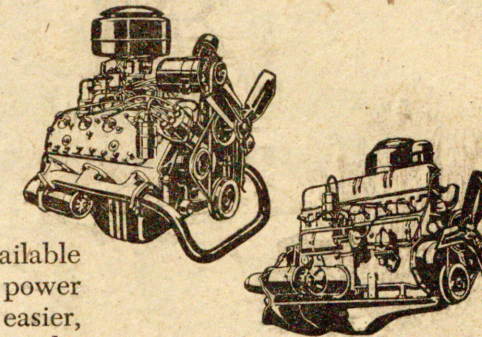

Ford's the only low-priced car which offers you a choice of a completely automatic transmission (Fordomatic), Overdrive or Conventional Drive. And Ford Master-Guide, available on all V-8 models, is the last word in power steering ... makes turning up to 75% easier, yet retains the natural feel of the wheel on the straightaway.

Moral for Advertisers

A lion met a tiger
As they drank beside a pool.
Said the tiger, "Tell me why
You're roaring like a fool."
"That's not foolish," said the lion
With a twinkle in his eyes.
"They call me king of all the beasts
Because I advertise."
A rabbit heard them talking,
And ran home like a streak.
He thought he'd try the lion's plan,
But his roar was just a squeak
A fox came to investigate—
Had luncheon in the woods.
Moral: When you advertise, my friends,
Be sure you've got the goods.

The Shining Light

Lesson for October 18, 1953

ARE we agreed that Christians ought to plan ahead for a better world? Are we agreed that the foundation of a better world is Jesus, Christ and Christlike persons? Then we can go on with the next question, a very practical one. What exactly can God's "new men" do to leave this world better than they found it? Granted, we shall never see an ideal world this side of heaven; granted, we shall be imperfect persons as long as we live in this world. It is still possible—more than that, it is imperative, a "Must"—for Christians to work and plan in the direction of the world of God's ideal.

Salt And Light

The first thing we can do, odd as it may sound, is not to do anything, but to be something. Jesus spoke to his disciples—and to us—in terms of salt and light. Now salt and light do not do anything, or rather what they do depends entirely on their being what they are. If salt would change its mind and decide to be pepper or sand, no cook would want it. If Dr. Foreman would want it, it would cause no end of trouble. The salt doesn't rush around doing something, it just is salt, the light is light. Salt and light are alike in this: there is no real substitute for either one. So there is no substitute for real Christians in this world. They are alike also in that they do whatever good they do, by contact. Salt in a shaker, light in a steel box, are of no use. So the Christian to be of use in the world must not shrink from contact with it.

Furthermore, salt and light are alike in that they must not be too prominent. No one cares for over-salted food or glaring lights. So a Christian who is like a Pharisee, wearing his virtues on his chest like a string of medals, is a nuisance to all concerned. But still it is true that the first and most constant service which every Christian can render in this confused sad world, is simply to be as good a Christian, as faithful a representative and servant of Jesus Christ he can possibly be.

Helping Others

Another thing that God's new men can do, a thing which can remake the world and in many respects has been re-making it, is a thing that sounds simple but which calls for a great deal of thought and planning, is this: just helping other people.

The New Testament makes it quite clear that an unhelpful Christian is hardly a real Christian at all. Naturally, not all Christians have the same opportunities. A little girl just entering the first grade can help her classmates and the teacher; but the teacher if she is a good one, can help all the class even more. The principal of the school, by selecting good teachers, can by his skill in judging people help every pupil in the school. The members of the school board by picking good principals can help the whole school system.

A boy on a farm in Missouri does not have the same opportunity to be helpful that he would have if he had been appointed Secretary of State. But a Christian, whether his zone of operations is a farm or the world, can always find ways of "going about doing good" as the Master did.

Winning Others

There is one thing that most Christians do not do, which—if they only went at it with any enthusiasm—would spread their light farther than any other one thing. (We bear in mind that if a Christian has any light, it is because Christ shines through him.) If it is true that the "better world," even if only a little better, can come to pass only as personalities are changed into the likeness of Christ, then the best thing a Christian can do toward a better world is to win others to his own Saviour. Saint Paul no doubt was helpful to others by the tents he made, for we can scarcely imagine him turning out shoddy or bungled work. He was more helpful still by "growing in grace" and shining as a true Christian character. But was there any service he performed which meant as much to him, in satisfaction, or to the world, by way of improvement, as the service he rendered in winning men from the kingdom of darkness to the kingdom of light?

Save Soil and Water With Stalks, Straw

Cornstalks and soybean straw left on the field will prevent much late fall, winter and early spring soil loss.

E. D. Walker, extension soil conservationist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, reports that one inch of rain falling on an acre of land expends enough energy to plow 10 acres.

Crop residues left on the surface of the soil help to absorb this energy just as growing crops do. Falling raindrops cannot then tear loose and carry away the soil particles.

One plot with a 4 percent slope was tested at the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station in Urbana. Where cornstalks were broken down across the slope after harvest, a rain of nearly 2 inches in an hour carried off only 193 pounds of soil an acre.

An adjoining corn plot left bare lost 4,148 pounds of soil an acre, more than 20 times as much, in this one rain.

Corresponding soil losses on soybean plot were 715 pounds an acre from the plot covered with soybean straw, and 3,362 pounds, nearly 5 times as much from the plot left bare. Water losses were much lower than the covered plots.

Walker says that soybean straw works better as mulch if it is spread evenly over the ground. So keep your straw spreader in good working condition.

Cornstalks stop more soil loss if you break them down close to the ground. Most pickers break them down fairly well. If you want to do a still better job of soil and water control in our cornfields, run a stalk shredder over the field or knock the stalks down across the slope with a heavy drag.

Christian Science Churches

Genuine repentance, joyous overcoming, and a grateful acknowledgment of Jesus' supreme sacrifice and resurrection, are necessary for man's redemption and spiritual progress. This will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 18. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be Doctrine of Atonement.

The Golden Text is from Isaiah (59:20) "The Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include:

"The grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ" (Titus 2:11-13).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Every pang of repentance and suffering, every effort for reform, every good thought and deed, will help us to understand Jesus' atonement for sin and aid its efficacy; but if the sinner continues to pray and repent, sin and be sorry, he has little part in the atonement—in the at-onement with God—for he lacks the practical repentance, which reforms the heart and enables man to do the will of wisdom" (p. 19).

The Yellowing Ash

There's a little ash across the street,
From which the robins sing.
It's first to lose its leaves each fall,
And first to leaf in spring.
When that ash begins to yellow,
And it's showing yellow now,
It won't be long till autumn
Comes along to make its bow.
Each day a bit more yellow
That little ash tree grows.
Foretelling days of eddying leaf,
Of frost, and coming snows.
When that ash is butter-yellow,
As every year before,
How well I'll know that autumn
Awaits at summer's door.

"Hunger Was Their Heritage" Important Ludwig Grein Novel

A review by Dr. A. J. App, Ph. D. of Ludwig Grein's autobiographic novel, "Hunger Was Their Heritage," Pageant Press, 130 W. 42nd street, New York, 36 N. Y. 207 pages, $3.00. For readers who remember any of Germany before, during and after World War I, this novel by Mr. Ludwig Grein

(837 Sherman ave., Evanston, Ill.) should bring back sharp memories—pleasant and also painful. It covers the most tragic years of the German people—its few joys, its many sorrows.

Mr. Grein takes a typical German working-class family, presumably his own, and carries it through World War I, the inflation, partial emigration to America, relief work and the rise of the Nazi party.

Readers who lived in Germany can judge how typical the portrayal is. Mr. Grein points up the agitation over socialism, against the nobility and the upper classes in the Kaiser's Germany. Both the lot and the morals of the German people before World War I are painted starkly; poverty, injustice, drunkenness and quarrelsomeness. Then the huge national effort in World War I, and the collapse afterwards—physical and moral. Mr. Grein rightly shows how the injustices of Versailles, the hopelessness into which these placed the Weimar Republic, prepared the way for Hitler. He suggests that the far worse injustices of Yalta and Potsdam, if not revised drastically, wisely and soon, must lead to new tragedies in Central Europe and in the World.

This suggestion alone, so urgently needed for our time, makes the book worthwhile. But for readers who experienced the conditions in Germany from 1912 through the critical years, the novel ought to be especially enjoyable and welcome.

Cook County Water Conference

(CNS) Suburban mayors are forming a subcommittee this week to map plans aimed at alleviating water shortages in county cities and villages.

Cook County Board President William N. Erickson said Monday the subcommittee will report to a central committee that was formed at a water conference Friday night, Sept. 25, in the Oak Park municipal building. Erickson called the meeting where the action on the water problem was taken by about 200 mayors and delegates from the suburban area. The mayors, water commissioners, health officials and others from water starved areas pressed for immediate action as they recalled the summer's terrific heat that left trickles or no water at all at times in about a score of communities.

One specific plan was offered to the group at its first meeting. Casimir Griglik, a Sanitary District trustee, submitted a proposal to build a surface aqueduct to carry Lake Michigan water to the Chicago area from an intake location just north of Racine, Wis., where a reservoir 10 miles long and one-half mile wide would be constructed two miles inland in the valley of the Root River and 70 feet above the level of the lake.

The plan also contemplates a pumping plant at the lake front with a gravity-flow aqueduct to be excavated over a distance of about 60 miles roughly paralleling the Des Plaines river to a location northwest of Chicago where a filter plant could be built to serve Chicago and the suburbs by pressure tunnel. Griglik said the plan not a new one, is the idea of Herbert Moore, a Milwaukee consulting engineer, who set it down in a trade magazine in December of 1948.

Griglik said the proposed system would be an auxiliary source of water for this area. Several delegates proposed that independent mains be built from Chicago pumping stations to suburban users. They complained there was little water left to reach the suburbs after Chicagoans turned on their faucets.

Erickson said the central committee members will be appointed as soon as possible to begin a survey and report on specific problems in all the cities and villages at the next general meeting tentatively set for Nov. 6. It was agreed that the subcommittees will represent geographical areas with each having a chairman who will report the gripes and problems in "his area to the central committee which in turn will report to the general meeting.

Erickson suggested that the committee, to be made up of municipal officials, consider all technical and legal aspects of problems involved in obtaining supplies of Lake Michigan water for suburban areas.

"The recent sustained heat wave put a severe strain on most municipal water systems," he said, recalling that it "resulted in the curtailed use of water in many homes, businesses and industries and in varying degree caused suffering and hardship, created health hazards such as contamination and pollution of water and dangerously impaired our ability to fight fires."

One remedy that Erickson said should definitely be considered for Chicago to expand its facilities to supply ample water. The delegates agreed with him that the committee confer with officials of nearby counties to explore the possibility of a new agency or authority which would encompass neighboring counties of Cook county, with a primary purpose of supplying water in the suburban and metropolitan areas.

"The shortage of water will continue to be an increasing and greater problem in every municipality because of the continued growth in population in our metropolitan district," Erickson warned.

He further warned that the water table is lowering each year in suburbs that own well systems. He added that well water is "hard and has many mineral deposits not quite as desirable or palatable as water from Lake Michigan."

Erickson also asked the water conference to evaluate whether the best approach to the water problem "is through public bond issues or the efforts of private enterprise." This aspect of the problem will be ironed out at future meetings with possible public hearings.

59,345 John Smiths Hold Social Security Cards in U. S.

All the John Smiths in the U. S. can rightly claim a solid name that goes back to the Founding Fathers, and beyond. But if your name is John Smith, you can be sure that your social security account is handled more frequently than those listed under another name. There are 59,345 John Smiths who have social security cards.

The John Smith who reported his self-employment income last March without showing his social security number really lost his identity. Now the social security people are trying to find which of the 1,287,315 Smiths this John Smith, retail grocer Padunkville, who reported $3247.50 income for 1952 might be. They'll get him straight, but it will take time and trouble for all concerned, including Mr. Smith. It will cost some social security taxes to get the job done.

"Unless your name and social security number appear on all social security reports exactly as it is on your social security card, you cannot be sure that you will get credit for your wages or self-employment income," said Harold Whiteside, Manager of the Joliet office of the Social Security Administration. "Confusion, trouble, expense and possible loss of benefits result from reporting a name without a number or an incorrect number. This problem is not restricted to the Smiths. There are more than 100 people by the name of George Teutopolis who have social security cards". Whiteside pointed out.

Whiteside advises that people never try to memorize their numbers. About one out of five remember the wrong number. He also pointed out that women who marry and fail to change the social security records frequently lose credits as well as cause a great deal of trouble and expense in trying to locate them thru their employers.

THE PLAN IN BRIEF

The object of the big distribution is two-fold: Primarily to increase the already large subscription list of Semmler Newspapers and advance subscription payments from present or new subscribers, and the same time afford our friends and readers an unparalleled opportunity to profit in a big way through their spare time during the next few weeks. So it is a plan that works both ways, and to the ultimate good of all concerned.

In order to gain this end quickly and advantageously, one of the most valuable and attractive lists of prizes ever offered by a local newspaper in this section of the country has been made ready for distribution among those who participate most heartily. Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success. The plan adopted is straight forward and simple and is fully outlined in this announcement.

Let it be understood at the very outset that it is not a "beauty" nor "popularity" contest, but a strictly legitimate competitive proposition for enterprising men and women, and boys and girls, and one in which no element of chance enters. One feature of this competition is the fact that there will be no losers in this race.

Stuart Culp Saturday for an evening of canasta. Guests so enjoyed themselves that the party went on into the wee small hours. Refreshments of pumpkin and lemon pie and excellent coffee were served. Guests were her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moulter and Diana Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moulter and son Edward, and Virgil Schnaare. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mrosek.

Mrs. Chester Williams recently gave demonstrations at her home to Scout leaders, Mrs. Goldie Berman and Mrs. Mildred Miller, both of Park Forest, on the decorating of sugar cubes, on how to make Christmas candles and on how to make vegetable flowers. Mrs. Berman and Mrs. Miller will give similar demonstrations at the Scout leader workshop in Park Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schrock, Chicago, were honored guests at a beautifully planned silver wedding anniversary dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Culp Sunday, Oct. 4.

Guests were all very old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Schrock and when they were ready to go in to dinner they assembled as a wedding procession. Mr. and Mrs. Schrock took their place as bride and groom. Her sister, Mrs. Norman Church of Miami, Fla., acted as maid of honor.

Mrs. William Kemmer of Evergreen Park, Mrs. Leona Leibig of Chicago, Mrs. Florence Dobatz of Chicago, Mrs. Nell Culp of Chicago and Mrs. Stuart Culp were the bridesmaids. William Kemmer of Evergreen Park was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Frazer of Chicago acted as ring bearer and flower girl. Mr. Culp was an usher.

When the procession entered the dining area, eyes fell on a table artistically dressed in silver and white. A strip of aluminum foil ran down the center of the table and napkins were edged with aluminum foil. A colonial bouquet containing flowers of silver coin and leaves of green dollar bills lay at the bride's plate. A colonial boutonniere of similar design adorned the groom's plate. Just beyond a wedding procession of appropriately dressed six and four inch dolls, each representing a guest, had been arranged. A three tier wedding cake decorated with white roses and silver leaves with the traditional bride and groom at its top completed the table decorations.

The miniature wedding procession which adorned the table was unique in plan and accomplishment. The dolls and their clothes had been especially ordered and designed for the occasion. The little bride was complete in a white crocheted dress, finger tip veil and train. She carried lilies of the valley and wore the traditional pearl necklace. The maid of honor wore a green crocheted formal. The bridesmaids were dressed in crocheted formal of orchid, blue, yellow and pink and wore matching crocheted picture hats. The flower girl was dressed in a variegated blue crocheted dress and carried a basket of straw flowers. The little groom, his best man and usher were also appropriately dressed. The ring bearer carried a tiny pillow with a baby ring on it. It was interesting to note that each doll had hair similar in color to that of the guest it represented.

A delicious dinner with fried chicken as the main course, was enjoyed by all. The party was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Schrock. They were married Oct. 8, 1928.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Felsch and children, Patsy and Sandra were dinner guests of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mitchell in Chicago, Sunday. An evening of visiting was enjoyed.

There will be an ice cream social at Maue school, Friday, October 16 at 8 pm.

White, Mrs. Emma West, Mrs. John West, Mrs. George Ott, Mrs. Eugene Anderson, Miss Evelyn Cary of Chicago and Mrs. Harry Finley of McConeville, Ohio. The latter, the latter mother of H. M. Finley, is spending some time in her son's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard A. Rowley were Sunday visitors of their son Willard at Princeton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Talbert and son were overnight guests in the Frank Milne home Saturday night.

Relatives here received word last week of the death of Perry Black of Adrian, Mo. His wife is the former Laura Rowley who resided in Homer many years ago. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Rowley. Mr. Black suffered severe injuries in a fall three weeks ago, but was thought to be recovering when he was stricken with a heart attack which was the immediate cause of his death.

Mrs. Ralph Reiter, Sr., is recuperating at her home from a recent hospitalization.

A capacity crowd enjoyed the Baldwin organ demonstration given by Reginald Feert of Chicago at Homer church Saturday evening. Joe Vancil of Downers Grove was the guest soloist. People were in attendance from many nearby towns.

The Homer Woman's club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Fred Petges with Mrs. Tess Markiewicz assisting the hostess. A white elephant sale was a special feature and roll call was answered with an advertising slogan.

Warren White is now in Japan with the Marines.
